Summer Black Truffles Tuber Aestivum	OZ/LB	4 oz minumum	n/a
		wholesale market rate : $50-60/oz*	$250/lb
Origins :
Abruzzo, Italy (April-August)
These are the most abundant of the year round black truffle, which peaks by June. They grow the largest in size--with a mild aroma and flavor profile. Since it is inexpensive and available in large quantities, culinary artists unapologetically incorporate large amounts of this particular truffle without overwhelming the senses. It takes center stage.
Autumn Black Truffles (Burgundy Truffle) Tuber Uncinatum	OZ/LB	5 oz. minimum	n/a n/a wholesale market rate: $100-$125/oz*
		retail: $100/oz ($1600/lb+)*
Origins :
Abruzzo, Italy (early Sept - early Dec)
Not to be confused with their earlier season lookalike Summer Truffles, Burgundy Truffles are powerfully pungent, redolent of rich, nutty flavors and roasted allium aromatics. When fully ripe, their interiors take on a pale coffee color, whitish gold veins intricately webbing through the brown, all tucked beneath thick exterior skin that calls to mind the scales of a crocodile or the coarse bark of a well weathered deciduous tree. In season for most of the northern hemisphere's autumn, these are the beginning of what we regard as true truffle season, from fall through spring.
White Abruzzese Truffle Tuber Magnatum pico	OZ/LB	8 oz. minimum must be pre-paid before ordering ~ may be only about 2 weeks left of this item	$2950/lb
			$200/oz
		wholesale market rate: $4560-6400/lb
		retail: $420-480/oz*
Origins :
Wild sourced from Abruzzo, Italy (late Sept - mid Dec)
The star of the year and the menu. Alba, doesn't necessarily produce white truffles but are a marketplace destination. Truthfully, ~70% of the best quality white truffles in the world are exported from Abruzzo, Italy (where this is from). To describe the flavor profile, it is creamy and garlicky with sweet, pungent cheese aromatics. This is the most coveted truffle globally due to its fragility, limited availability, and short season. A true staple for Michelin clients we are honored to privately harvest for. Every offering was harvested two days ago and lands expeditiously with utmost care.
Winter Black Truffles (Perigords) Tuber Melanosporum	OZ/LB	4 oz. minimum	$60-70/oz
	retail value : $150/oz | $2,400/lb*
Origins :
Teruel, Spain (Dec - March)
Calabria, Italy (Dec - March)
Abruzzo, Italy (Dec - March)
Provence, France (Jan - March)
Biobio, Chile (June)

These particular truffles are intense with flavor and smell. It is chocolatey, earthy, and has a distinct umami that stands alone in comparison to the year round selection of black truffles. Due to its pungency--less is more. Privately purveyed for Michelin Chefs, but available widely for all, this year as we've developed new partnerships with private sources. Typically, they are harvested two days prior to delivery. Always fresh, never frozen. Includes certificate of authenticity.

Kaluga Hybrid
Privately farmed from the Amur River (Russia/China border) The Kaluga hybrid comes from two different sturgeon: the Kaluga Sturgeon (huso dauricus) and the Amur (Japanese) Sturgeon (acipenser schrenckii). It is known for its buttery, creamy, and subtle ocean salt flavor that bursts in your mouth. This caviar is known for having large pearls that have a nice firm texture. The pearls are a glossy gray color, with gold highlights that give it this olive green tint. Due to current Russian embargoes, products are shipped to China and then to the US for safe passage.
	G/OZ	30g (1oz) tin	$40.00
		60g (2oz) glass jar	$80.00
		125g glass container/tin	$155.00
		500g tin	$600.00
Russian Osetra
Privately farmed from Russia via China Russian Osetra comes from the Osetra sturgeon (acipenser gueldenstaedii) . This caviar is known for its nutty and buttery flavor. The pearls are also large in size but the color is different. These pearls tend to have this deep amber color which makes the eggs slightly darker but more translucent. It still has a nice golden tint but with the Osetra sturgeon, the color of the eggs vary more.
	G/OZ	30g (1oz) tin	$45.00
		60g (2oz) glass jar	$85.00
		125g glass container/tin	$155.00
		500g tin	$600.00
Siberian Caviar
Privately farmed from Siberia Yielded from Siberian Sturgeon (acipenser baeril). These medium-sized, light-to-dark-gray pearls have a tender consistency, practically melting in your mouth and relinquishing subtle, nutty flavors with a hint of the sea. This caviar is denoted as "malossol," distinguishing it as a high-grade caviar with no preservatives and only minimal use of salt.

Russian Sturgeon
Privately farmed from Uruguay Our Imperial grade Russian Sturgeon (acipenser gueldenstaedil) caviar has light-brown to caramel colored eggs and offers a beautifully subtle, saline-infused richness and nutty, delicate character. Eggs are larger than our other grades (3.05mm to 3.2mm).
	G/OZ	30g (1oz) tin	$75.00
		60g (2oz) glass jar	$150.00
		125g glass container/tin	$300.00
		500g tin	$1,000.00
Beluga Hybrid

Product Name	Unit/Case	U of M	Distributor
Privately farmed from Bulgaria Banned from the US for 20 years, Beluga Hybrid (Huso huso and Acipenser baeri) is a variety of caviar obtained from a hybrid of two sturgeon species, combining the rapid maturation of the sterlet and the rapid growth of the beluga. The taste of this caviar is tender, delicate, buttery, closer to the taste of beluga caviar. Beluga caviar is the most expensive type of caviar due to its scarcity and we are proud to be one of a handful of certified importers with direct access to it.
	G/OZ	30g (1oz) tin	$200.00
		60g (2oz) glass jar	$380.00
